CoreCell-E LTE eNodeB. Tecore Networks CoreCell-E provides a radio access node for User Equipment (UEs) connecting to a 4G LTE network. The CoreCell-E is a nodal component of the Evolved UMTS Radio Access Network (E-UTRAN) and integrates seamlessly with Tecore's 4G LTE Evolved Packet Core (EPC) over an All-IP packet data network.

Much of the LTE standard addresses the upgrading of 3G UMTS to what will eventually be 4G mobile communications technology. A large amount of the work is aimed at simplifying the architecture of the system, as it transitions from the existing UMTS circuit + packet switching combined network, to an all-IP flat architecture system.

As we get closer to a full 5G 3GPP specification, it is clear that the cloud will not simply be part of the 5G network, it will be a foundational element; the network will be "cloud native." This became apparent in later releases of the 4G spec, including release 14, in which certain cloud and

1. Introduction . This document presents the LTE network architecture as the first technical document of the LTE area. The LTE network called EPS (Evolved Packet System) is an end-to-end (E2E) all IP network; EPS is divided into two parts - LTE part which deals with the technology related to a radio access network (E-UTRAN) and EPC part which ...

This document will describe LTE QoS at service level and at bearer level. First, the concept of Service Data Flow (SDF) and EPS bearer, traffic flows at these two levels, will be explained, followed by a description of their relationship. Then, it will explain the concept of QoS at each level, an...
